Dear Barry,

Many thanks for the Youngblood pictures.

Unfortunately, the delay was crucial. Both of the reporters I had working on this have left the Boston area, permanently. However, I have another contact there through whom I will improvise. The first copy reached me in N.O. I asked the reporter, then about to leave, to speak to her. If he did I'll hear as soon as he gets settled in Chicago, where he has moved.

I am having a couple of prints made without the legend, so that he will not be identified in the caption, to use where he may have been known- and when I can make the arrangements.

Too bad it took so long, but it is still valuable. I'll let you know when I have a chance to develop anything. Very busy on other and deadline work.

Many thanks.

Sincerely,

Harold Weisberg
